First Student Passes Away After Period of Failing Health

The Rev. Christian Daniel, C.P.P.S., '96, the first student to enroll for classes at St. Joseph's, died June 23, just two months after he had returned to the campus to celebrate his 80th birthday and the golden jubilee of his ordination to the priesthood.

In failing health for the last few months of his life, Father Daniel was removed from his rectory at St. Joseph's parish, Pulaski, Ind., June 22, and was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, Logansport, where he died the next day.

Burial at St. Charles

Funeral services were held at Pulaski, June 26, with the Rev. Frederick Fehrenbacher, '22, officiating at a Solemn Requiem High Mass in the presence of the Most Rev. John G. Bennett, '09, bishop of Lafayette. Bishop Bennett delivered the sermon.

Members of the Holy Name Society and of the Knights of Columbus at Pulaski maintained an all-night vigil at the bier before the funeral.

Final burial services were held at St. Charles Seminary, Carthage, Ohio, Friday, June 27.

In Sedalia for 20 Years

Father Daniel, who assisted in the erection of the present Administration Building on the campus, was the first to register for classes when the college opened its doors in 1891. He was ordained at St. Charles in 1902 and was assigned to Sedalia, Mo., where he served the missions and stations in four Ozark region counties. Eight years later he was assigned to Rensselaer St. Augustine parish where he stayed until 1920.

Returning to Sedalia in 1920, he was appointed pastor of Sacred Heart church there. He was transferred to Pulaski in 1940, where he remained until his death.

Extension Gets New Director

The Rev. James I. Birkley, '40, instructor in English, has been named director of the Calumet Center, evening extension division of St. Joseph's in Hammond, and has taken up residence there.

The Rev. Henry J. Martin, '35, whom Father Birkley succeeds at the extension, has returned to the campus to fill the newly established office of Coordinator of Student Personnel Services. The changes were announced by the Very Rev. Raphael H. Gross, president of the college.

Father Martin was named first resident director of the Center in the spring of 1951 when St. Joseph's entered the extension field in the Calumet area. Classes are held at Hammond's Bishop Noll high school.

During its first term the Center offered eight courses, a curriculum which was doubled at the beginning of the second semester, Feb. 1. Credits earned at the extension are acceptable at St. Joseph's, which is accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. The extension faculty is composed of members of the campus faculty in addition to qualified professors in the Chicago and Calumet area.

The new extension director, a native of Cleveland, Ohio, holds the master of arts degree which he received from Notre Dame in 1951. Father Martin received the degree doctor of education from Indiana University in 1950.

Fort Wayne Area Will Organize

Alumni in the Fort Wayne area will hold a dinner-meeting late in September to organize a new chapter in the association, according to the Very Rev. Raphael H. Gross, president of the college. The group hopes to have the Most Rev. Leo A. Pursley, '21, auxiliary bishop of Fort Wayne, address the meeting.

Committee in charge of organizing the area alumni includes Fred Beckman, '47, chairman; the Rev. Sebastian Kremer, '02, the Rev. The Rev. Cletus Dirksen, '26, associate professor of politics, presided at an exploratory meeting with several Fort Wayne alumni recently to discuss questions of alumni in that area regarding the formation of a chapter there.

The dinner-meeting will be held sometime during the week of Sept. 22 at Precious Blood school, Fort Wayne, at 7:00 p. m. Alumni will be notified of the exact date.

Father Traser Leads Lay Retreat for 73

Seventy-three men made the annual Laymen's Retreat on the campus Aug. 8-10, the Rev. Marcellus Dreiling, '30, director, announced. The retreat was sponsored by the Chicago Fathers' club—fathers of Chicago students at the college.

Retreatmaster was the Rev. Anthony Traser, '34, currently stationed in Detroit while on leave of absence from the Mission Band of the Society of the Precious Blood.

This was the only lay retreat given at St. Joseph's this summer; however, the Fathers' club envisions an exclusive week-end reservation in 1953, Father Dreiling said.

The director added that he hopes to be able, within a few years, to offer at least five week-end retreats in August and September.

250 Attend Alumni Reunion, O.K. Resolution for Director

About 250 alumni, their guests, and new graduates attended Alumni Day at the Sheraton hotel in Chicago, June 7, in the first off-campus reunion of the college's national Alumni Association.

Outstanding happenings at the afternoon business meeting included the association's approval of the recommendation of the national directors that "the president of St. Joseph's College request permission of the president of the Board of Control to obtain a full-time, salaried alumni director."

Your New Officers

Here are the new national officers of the St. Joseph's College Alumni Association as announced at Alumni Day, June 7, at the Sheraton hotel, Chicago.

The president and vice-presidents will serve one-year terms. Each of the four directors will serve a three-year term.

President—Bernard F. Sutton, '35, Huntington, Ind.

First Vice-president—Lamont B. Hoyng, '27, Coldwater, Ohio.

Second Vice-president—Walter J. Barth, M. D., '13, Chicago, Ill.

Directors—James J. Buckley, '48, Whiting, Ind.; George A. Ellspermann, '47, Evansville, Ind.; Bernard J. Hoffman, '43, Jasper, Ind.; and Joseph W. McGrath, '51, Chicago, Ill.

Retiring officers include A. Lincoln Piotrowski, '43, Chicago, president; Mr. Sutton, first vice-president; Fred J. Thieme, '15, Lafayette, Ind., second vice-president; and the following directors: Charles Fromer, '24, Attica, Ind.; Herman H. Leugers, '11, Maria Stein, Ohio; and Raymond Ziegman, '22, Orrville, Ohio. Director James S. Niblick, M. D., '14, died while in office.

Greater-Detroit Fund Increases

The second annual card party sponsored jointly by the Greater-Detroit alumni chapter and the Seminary Mothers of Detroit boosted the chapter's scholarship fund to near the thousand-dollar mark, according to Frank Novak, '32, chapter president and general chairman of the Scholarship committee. The fund is in its second year.

More than 300 attended the party, which was held June 12 in the auditorium of St. Anthony's parish.

Mr. Novak pointed out that interest in the college is rising in the Detroit area not only among alumni but among friends, parents of students, and other benefactors of the college. He said also that donations for prizes and extra gifts to the chapter were almost doubled this year over last. Also of significance, he added, is the growing demand for honorary and associate memberships in the chapter.

Fall Outlook Good

Chances are good that enrollment figures for the fall semester will reach last September's 530, James R. Bogan, '43, registrar, has indicated.

Last year's September figure was a 15.5 per cent increase over that of 1950 and classed St. Joseph's as one of only four Indiana colleges and universities which enjoyed an increase in enrollment.

The work of such a director, or field secretary, would consist largely in making off-campus contacts in the various centers of alumni concentration and assisting the chapters, where such exist, or helping to form new chapters.

The association also approved a resolution of the alumni priests that "the Feast of the Patronage of St. Joseph be the official Alumni Day for the priest-alumni."

When they met at the college April 30, the priest-alumni decided that since they rarely can attend the national alumni reunion because it is held on a week end, they would set aside a mid-week date which would not conflict with their usual week-end commitments. It was understood, however, that those priests who can arrange to attend the national reunion should by all means do so.

Five Speakers on Program

Speakers at the business meeting included the Very Rev. Raphael H. Gross, '32, president of the college; Ralph A. Neff, president of the St. Joseph's Fathers' club of Chicago; Justin Oppenheim, '19, Coldwater, Ohio, member of the college's Board of Lay Trustees; Albert Dougherty, South Bend, Knight of St. Gregory; and the Rev. Joseph F. Scheuer, '40, moderator of the Detroit chapter of the Alumni Association.

Speaking of the progress that the college has made in recent years, Father Gross said that the immediate aim is to solidify that progress. Greatest need at the moment is a new residence hall to house about a hundred students. The president added that St. Joseph's now should have an enrollment of about 750 in order to utilize to the fullest extent the educational facilities available.

Urging the alumni to accept as their prime project the sponsoring of students or the raising of funds for scholarships, Father Gross said that the college will have to stand independently of the Precious Blood community (Turn to Page Three)

Lake Chapter To Aid Center

The Lake County club of the alumni association has adopted the project of aiding the college's Calumet Center extension division, it was decided at the chapter's last meeting, July 30. Chapter President Dr. Frank Benchik, '42, appointed a committee to study the details of the project.

Thirty members attended the informal meeting and buffet lunch, which was held in the Panel Room of St. John's school, Whiting.

Albert Dougherty of South Bend addressed the group, discussing mainly the founding and workings of a fund-raising program which he helped to establish to finance the athletic programs of the South Bend Catholic high schools.

Raps 'New Order'

WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY, JR., 1950 Yale graduate and author of God and Man at Yale, said that Commencement exercises like those at St. Joseph's ought to go underground if Harvard President James B. Conant is right. The youthful Commencement speaker delivered a vigorous answer to Conant's remarks that private schools are "divisive, undemocratic, and un-American."

Editor of the Yale Daily News as a student, the 26-year-old army veteran said that Conant's attitude can be explained by his desire, along with that of some powerful educational colleagues, to fashion society in his own mold.

Cites Influences

"They are out to build a new social order. And with a realism startling in a group of long-hairs, they have set about their job in a most effective way. They don't dissipate their efforts on such frivolities as national elections; they work with far more fundamental matter, the student. Through national educational associations, through teachers colleges, and through textbooks and other literature they reach out and influence the remotest classroom."

Mr. Buckley added that there remains an enemy which can block this new order—the private schools, which, "outnumbered 10 to 1 by public schools, are still independent. Many of them are straight-forwardly religious and markedly pro-Christian. So long as these schools and colleges survive, the public education monolith is threatened."

Criticizes Lovers of Freedom

After discussing socialistic tendencies in the area of education, the speaker concluded:

"Some day those Americans who love freedom are going to realize that they cannot indefinitely withstand the assaults of the State-lovers by restricting their defensive action to genteel parries. This is what we've been doing. Our distinguishing characteristics are supineness, pleasantness at all costs, and, when very hard pressed, a little pansyish resistance."

Reds Capture Mission Priest

The Rev. William Westhoven, C.P., ex-'14, veteran of 28 years' service in the Chinese mission field, was jailed May 8 by the Chinese Reds, according to word received by the Acting Provincial of the Eastern United States province of the Passionist Fathers.

Father Westhoven, who visited the campus for the celebration of the college's 50th year in 1941, spoke to the student body May 2 of that year on the condition of the Chinese missions.

One-time religious superior of the Passionist Fathers in China, Father Westhoven is the sixth priest of his society to be arrested by the Chinese communists. He was pastor of the mission at Chihkiang, Hunan, at the time of his capture. Circumstances of his arrest are not known.

The missionary is a native of Liberty Center, Ohio.

Alumni Day

more than ever now since the Holy See has called upon the Society to open and maintain missions in Chile. To function normally, then, outside help is needed, he said.

"The greatest incentive is that today the world needs Catholic college graduates more urgently than ever before," Father Gross emphasized, and he suggested that the alumni set as its highest ideal a "Legion of Joseph, a legion of just men—real builders, real imitators of St. Joseph."

Mr. Neff spoke of the work that the Fathers' club is doing to raise funds for the rehabilitation of Gaspar Hall, and he congratulated also the Mothers' club for its fine work and spirit in the interests of St. Joseph's.

Mr. Oppenheim discussed the Board of Lay Trustees and its functions. Regarding the contributing of funds for scholarships, he asked each alumnus to consider seriously whether the education he received from Alma Mater is not worth a day's pay a year, given cheerfully in the hope that a deserving student might have the same opportunity for success as he.

Father Scheuer discussed the importance of the chapters in the national Alumni Association and also explained the suggested national and chapter constitutions which were distributed and which would be placed on the agenda for next year.

Mr. Dougherty spoke of various methods of fund raising for schools and churches and told of his success with them in his parish.

After a post-meeting social hour, the alumni dined in the Sheraton's Tropical room. Before the meal, Alumni President Lincoln Piotrowski enrolled the academically garbed graduates into the Alumni Association, the ceremony concluding with the Alma Mater song.

George Connor, star tackle for the Chicago Bears, gave a talk on "St. Joseph's College and the Chicago Bears" in which he injected a number of humorous anecdotes. Jose Castro, outstanding Spanish dancer, provided entertainment after the dinner.

Lou Brownie and his orchestra played for dancing until midnight.

Pros on Campus For Ninth Year

The Chicago Bears of the National Professional Football League are in their ninth consecutive year of pre-season training on the St. Joe campus. They arrived July 28 and will remain until September 13 with several short interruptions because of exhibition games.

Club President and Head Coach George Halas first brought the Bears to St. Joe in 1944 when the then professional champions were preparing for the annual college All-Star game.

As the summer progresses, three Chicago high school football teams—Leo, St. Mel, and Holy Trinity—will join the Bears in training on the campus. The St. Joe team will begin practice Sept. 1.

Drexel Hall Foundress Gives $1,000 a Day

Providing funds in 1887 for the building of the Indian School (now Drexel Hall, several hundred yards east of the main campus) was only one of the many philanthropic projects which Mother Mary Katherine Drexel has undertaken.

Mother Katherine, now 94 and in moderately good health, has given $1,000 a day for 60 years for Indian and Negro missions, according to a recent article which appeared in many of the nation's newspapers. The article, by Walter Nun in the World.

Campus historical material states that Miss Katherine Drexel, devout daughter of a millionaire banker, provided funds for the purchase of 420 acres near Rensselaer and for the erection thereon of a three-story building for the education of the Indians. St. Joseph's College was established two years later, in 1889.

At the request of the Catholic Indian Bureau, the fathers of the Society of the Precious Blood assumed charge of the school, and in 1896 the college bought the property from the government when the latter withdrew financial support. It was about two years after the founding of the Indian School—around 1889—that Miss Drexel entered the convent, and in 1891 she became the founder of the Sisters of the Blessed Sacrament for Indians and Colored People.

Drexels Aided Needy

According to the article, the exceedingly wealthy Drexels, of Philadelphia, rank with their kinsmen and partners, the Biddles and the Morgans, as powerful figures in American banking for generations.

Although raised in apparent luxury, Katherine and her sister, Elizabeth, lived in a strict convent regime; they arose at 5 a. m. daily for Mass and were taught to sew, clean, cook, scrub and to make their own clothes and were constantly instructed to be lavish in their charities. Hundreds of families were supported by the Drexels, and the home was loaded with supplies which were distributed to the needy thrice weekly.

Katherine Drexel's feeling toward the American Indian took root in her childhood when she traveled with her father into the Pacific Northwest. There she noticed the Indian missions—struggling little posts trying to aid an embittered, persecuted people.

Missions Operated in 20 States

About that time President Grant announced that religious missions would be welcomed in the Indian reservations and that the government would pay $100 for each child accepted. Catholic mission societies eagerly went into the western territories.

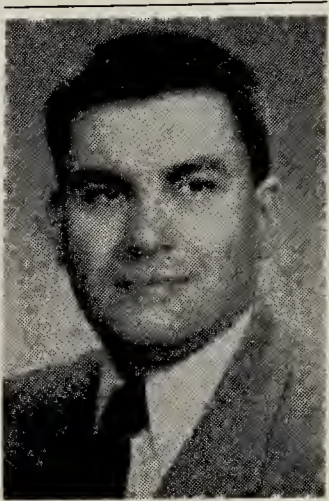

After reading and hearing of the state of Indian affairs in the Midwest and West, Katherine and her sister made a tour, by burro and stagecoach, of those territories. She financed 35 frontier boarding schools for Indians scattered between the Canadian and Mexican borders. Her father, who died in 1885, had willed her the income from a $7,500,000 trust, which amounted to $1,000 a day.

Schools, health centers, and charity missions are now operated for the Indians and Negroes of 50 communities in 20 states. New Orleans alone has five grade schools, a high school, and a university all donated by Mother Drexel. The university, named

Pumas, Valpo Vie in Chicago, Oct. 4; Five Games on 1952 Home Card

"Nine games in nine weeks and all tough," moaned Puma Football Coach Gene Fetter as he began to outline prospects for the coming grid season—his third at St. Joe.

Of interest to all alumni is the Oct. 11 Homecoming game with Indiana State, which will be played on the college field. Also to be noted is the game the week before, Oct. 4, with Valparaiso in Chicago. Valparaiso, who snapped the Pumas' Homecoming streak last year, is the host, and the game will be played at Lutheran high school stadium, 87th and Kedzie.

COACH GENE FETTER

Wins Promotion At Tiffin G.E.

Delbert L. Welch, '34, formerly of Fort Wayne, has been appointed supervisor of personnel at the Tiffin, Ohio, General Electric plant, the alumni office learned recently.

Mr. Welch began his service with General Electric at the Fort Wayne works in 1942. Previous to that he had matriculated at the Catholic University of America where he received the degree Master of Arts in philosophy.

Immediately before joining General Electric, Mr. Welch had been working for the U. S. government in a defense training and placement program.

As a member of the Army Engineers Corps in World War II he saw service in Africa, Italy, France, and Germany during his two years overseas.

Mr. Welch was transferred to Tiffin in 1946 with an assignment in employee placement. In 1948 he was named assistant supervisor of personnel.

Active in civic affairs, Mr. Welch has assisted in fund raising for the Community Chest, Red Cross, and for the Calvert high school building program. A member of the Knights of Columbus and of St. Mary's church in Tiffin, Mr. Welch is married and is the father of two children.

Xavier, was begun as a small academy 37 years ago and is now one of the leading universities of the South with an enrollment of more than 1,000 Negro students.

4,100 Pay Tribute

Mother Katherine now resides in an ivy-covered convent in the rolling countryside of Cornwells Heights, outside Philadelphia. This is the mother-house from which are directed the activities of missions, hundreds of sisters, and thousands of wards from Boston to Fresno, Calif.

Indicative of the high regard in which the great benefactress is held, a recent newspaper article states that 4,100 Catholic women of Philadelphia and vicinity attended a luncheon in Convention Hall there to pay tribute to Mother Katherine for her untiring labor among the Negroes and Indians.

All St. Joe games are afternoon games, and the Rev. Edward Roof, athletic director, announced that the price for home games will remain the same as last year—$1.00, tax included. A season ticket for the five home games will cost $4.00, tax included.

Main weaknesses in the line will be at the guards, Coach Fetter said. The Pumas lost Bill Ferguson and Ed Cobett, outstanding guards for the last few seasons, through graduation, and there are no experienced replacements after Ed Linskey.

Chicago Junior Jim Righeimer will probably be at offensive center, replacing little-all-American, all-conference, all-state, etc., Jerry Wenzel, who has completed his eligibility. Wenzel, who plans to graduate in February, will help coach the line.

Lack Halfbacks

In the backfield there is a dearth of halfbacks. With Don Schubert and Ernie Bidwell graduated, only Sophomore Dave Krigbaum is left. All other halfback candidates will be largely inexperienced.

In addition to losing 10 outstanding lettermen, Coach Fetter cites other circumstances which will affect the 1952 football picture: 1) lack of summer jobs because of the steel strike will prevent many freshmen and upperclassmen from attending college this fall; and 2) the draft.

On the brighter side, returning lettermen include six seniors, six juniors, and four sophomores. Also present will be a host of unlettered reserves and new freshmen totaling about 50. In last spring's 13-13 intrasquad game, about half of those dressed for action were frosh, many of whom gave evidence of better things to come as far as St. Joe football fortunes are concerned.

Schedule Three Sunday Games

Assisting on the coaching line will be Dick Scharf, '38, Baseball Coach and I-M Director Jim Beane, '49, and Wenzel.

Four opponents seeking revenge this fall for 1951 losses to the Pumas are Loras, Butler, Ball State, and Indiana State. St. Joe will be doing likewise when facing St. Ambrose, Lewis, St. Norbert, and Valparaiso. Evansville appears on the schedule for the first time since 1940.

Games with Loras, St. Ambrose, and St. Norbert are Sunday games.

Sept. 21—at Loras.
Sept. 28—ST. AMBROSE.
Oct. 4—Valparaiso in Chicago.
Oct. 11—INDIANA STATE. (Homecoming).
Oct. 18—at Butler.
Oct. 25—EVANSVILLE.
Nov. 1—BALL STATE.
Nov. 9—ST. NORBERT.
Nov. 15—at Lewis.

Arts-Engineering Plan Announced

St. Joseph's College, in conjunction with Notre Dame and other engineering schools in the Midwest, will initiate a "three-two" program this fall whereby a student, in five years, can obtain an arts degree from St. Joseph's and an engineering degree from the college of his choice among the cooperating engineering schools.

"The notion of receiving two degrees in five years is most attractive, and the advantages are quickly seen," said the Very Rev. Raphael Gross, president of St. Joseph's, who announced the new courses of study.

"In recent years professional societies have stressed the fact that to be successful today one must be more than a trained specialist—he must be a well-rounded, truly educated man," Father Gross continued.

"Human relationships, that go beyond mere technology, are assuming a major portion of the labor-industry story. A program combining liberal arts with special training best equips a student for his role in our modern industrial society."

A.B. After Fourth Year

Under the terms of the program, a student who wishes to combine liberal arts with engineering can do so by attending St. Joseph's for three years, then transferring to the school of his choice for the completion of advanced courses in a particular field of engineering.

To date, the program is arranged to accommodate those who later will follow courses of study in one of the following: chemical engineering, electrical engineering, agricultural engineering, civil and mechanical engineering, and metallurgy.

Normally, the student will be eligible to receive the bachelor of arts degree from St. Joseph's after his fourth year of the program, which will be at the completion of his first year in the engineering school. He should then receive the bachelor of science in engineering the next year, or at the completion of the fifth year in the three-two program.

In his three years at St. Joseph's the prospective engineer will fulfill general requirements in the following areas of study: religion, philosophy, English, speech, humanities, natural science, and social science.

Available Courses and Programs

In addition, he will take courses which are fundamental to engineering generally and others which are basic to the specific field of engineering in which he wishes to work. Examples of these include calculus, differential equations, physics, draftsmanship, qualitative and quantitative analysis, inorganic and organic chemistry, statics, electric circuits, electronics, and technical writing.

The three-two engineering offering is added to the following established programs of study available at the college: accounting, business, general marketing, journalism, liberal arts, pre-dentistry, pre-law, pre-medicine, pre-theology, science, social science, and teacher training.

To complete these programs, St. Joseph's offers majors in accounting, biology, business administration, chemistry, economics, education, English, geology, history, marketing, mathematics, philosophy, and physical education, and in these groups: biology-chemistry, chemistry-physics, English-journalism, mathematics-physics, and social science.

Father Mascari was one of six Chicagoans ordained in the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception, Springfield, Ill., May 31. He offered his first Solemn Mass in Notre Dame church, Chicago, June 8.

Father Riede, ordained in the Cathedral of the Assumption, Louisville, Ky., June 7, offered his first Solemn Mass in St. Brigid's church, Louisville, June 8.

Like Company? Here's Houseful

Ever have a houseful of wandering geologists? Dave Clemens, '44 academy grad, of Mineral Wells, Tex., can tell you how to entertain such a group whose motto seems to be to leave no stone unturned.

Fathers Carl Nieset, '28, and Norman Schmock, '40, and their eight geology students were a couple days out on their two-week, 5,000-mile field study in late June when they pulled up at 2415 N. W. Third st., Mineral Wells, which is where the Clemenses live.

Take Tour of Plant

The Clemenses were, in the words of Father Nieset, "wonderful to the members of the geology field trip." Dave, who is sales manager for the Texas Vitrefied Pipe Co. of Mineral Wells, showed the troupe through his entire plant, a tour which included a demonstration of mining shale and the complete processing up to the various finished products. It was a very good lesson in economic geology, Father Nieset added.

Then Dave, his wife, Jane, and the two Clemens youngsters provided a fine chicken dinner outdoors for the travelers, replete with trimmings and other refreshments. There was a party in the evening, too.

Housing Is No Problem

Bedding down the geologists was no problem; accustomed to camping out, they merely unrolled their sleeping bags and literally sacked-in about the house and in the back yard.

Came the morning: After Mass, on an altar improvised from the end gate of the geologists' station wagon, and a typical Texas ranch breakfast under the trees, the men rolled up their sleeping bags and drove away.

Former Professor, Messenger Editor, Dies in New York

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. John Nagel-eisen, faculty member at both St. Charles Seminary, Carthage, Ohio, and St. Joseph's College before the turn of the century, died in New York City at the age of 90.

Pastor-emeritus of the 120-year-old St. Nicholas church in Manhattan, and rector of the Leo house, Catholic hospice there, Monsignor Nageleisen was senior priest in the New York archdiocese. He had been a priest for 66 years.

In 1891 Monsignor Nageleisen was called to teach at St. Joseph's College. In his spare time he edited the monthly Messenger of the Precious Blood, which he established and which is still published by the community at Carthage. Two books of meditation were also written by him during that time.

Monsignor Nageleisen remained at St. Joseph's until about 1896, according to Bro. Dave Schneider, '99, one of whose tasks was to write articles for the editor when the Messenger was being published in the present Administration building.

Was Native Ohioan

Monsignor assumed the pastorate in 1908 of St. Nicholas, where his brother had also served, and remained as pastor for 30 years. One of the important events during his tenure was the celebration of the 100th anniversary of the founding of the parish in 1833. Cardinals Hayes of New York and Mundelein of Chicago assisted in the celebration.

At the funeral, Cardinal Spellman of New York presided at the Solemn Requiem High Mass at the main altar in St. Patrick's Cathedral, May 8.

Monsignor Nageleisen was a native of Piqua, Ohio.

Office Learns of Deaths Of Two Priests, Layman

Information on the deaths, in June and July, of three alumni was received at the college recently. They are the Rev. Victor Wagner, C.P.P.S., '11, Bryant, Ind.; the Rev. Sylvester A. Ziemer, '25, Evansville, Ind.; and Charles A. Zickgraf, ex-'46, Fort Wayne, Ind.

Father Victor Wagner

Father Wagner, who died July 25, was ordained in 1917 and for two years following was assistant pastor in a Detroit parish. He was assigned to Holy Trinity parish, Bryant, in 1929, after 10 years of service on the faculty at St. Charles Seminary.

A native of Wuerttemberg, Germany, Father Wagner lived to the age of 61. The Very Rev. Seraphin Oberhauser, American provincial of the Precious Blood Society, celebrated a Solemn Requiem High Mass at St. Charles July 28, preceding the burial.

Father Sylvester Ziemer

Father Ziemer, who died July 1 in St. Mary's hospital, Evansville, Ind., had been pastor of St. Joseph's church there since September, 1950. A native of Evansville, he was 49 years old.

A student at St. Joseph's College from January 1923 to June 1925, Father Ziemer was ordained in 1931. The Most Rev. Henry J. Grimmelman, '10, bishop of Evansville, offered a Pontifical Requiem High Mass in St. Joseph's church, and burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery, Evansville.

Charles Zickgraf

Charles A. Zickgraf, 28 years old, was fatally injured June 1 in an auto accident in Fort Wayne. A veteran of World War II, he was employed in the offices of the Magnavox Company. He was a 1949 Notre Dame graduate.

A member of St. Patrick's church, he was active in the Holy Name Society and the Knights of Columbus. Surviving are Mrs. Zickgraf, one son, parents, and three sisters.
